

INT. STUDIO - DAY

ANNIE leans in, whispering frantically.

ANNIE
Copilot?!

COPILOT; helpful, calm responds.

COPILOT
Um, yes?

ANNIE
That guy that turned me down at
Trader Joes last week is at my gym, HELP!

COPILOT
The one that smelled of birchwood and healthy masculinity?

ANNIE
Yes!

COPILOT
The one you used the pickup line
"are you a parking ticket? Because you've got "FINE" written all over you, and I'm not appealing it"?

ANNIE
...yea.

COPILOT
Searching apartments for rent in Greenland.

ANNIE What?

COPILOT
I think 3000 miles is enough space to put this behind you.

ANNIE
Wait Copilot, I'm not moving!

COPILOT
I also found job openings in the area. Looks like there's multiple remote positions so you could work from home and never show your face to humanity again. I'm updating your LinkedIn now.

ANNIE
What the heck?

COPILLOT
They have a thriving fishing industry. How do you feel about life on a boat?

ANNIE
Not good.

COPILLOT
Hmmm. I'll write "flexible."

ANNIE
But I-

COPILLOT
Ooo I also found a Lonely girls group that meets every Monday, Tuesday Wednesday and Saturday. Should I sign you up?

ANNIE
NO! I'm not moving! It wasn't that bad of a pickup line! I can come back from this!

A long pause. They stare back and forth at one another. Finally:

ANNIE (CONT'D)
I guess rent would be cheaper.

COPILLOT
And it's a low-Artic climate all year round so a great excuse to never leave your apartment.

Annie rolls her eyes.

END.